DE LA HUERTA AT HELM IN MEXICO

American Recognition Is Asked—Carranza In Hiding

Vera Cruz, May 11.—President Carranza, who is making a stand against revolutionary forces at the village of San Marcos, twenty-seven miles northeast of Puebla, has not yet been dislodged from his position there by the troops of Generals Hill and Trevino, which are attempting to drive him from his stronghold along the railroad leading from Apizaco to this city.

San Antonio, Tex., May 11.—Obregonists confiscated the national treasury funds today, according to wireless messages received by revolt sympathizers here from Mexico City. The same advices confirmed the executions of Under-Secretary of the Treasury Manuel Amaya and Gen. Elutero Avila by Gen. Juan Merigo, after he had denounced Carranza and attacked the train carrying the President to Vera Cruz. In the battle that ensued Gen. Candida Aguilar was killed. The reports stated that two of Carranza's sons were being held prisoners by Merigo. The fall of Monterrey was definitely confirmed in messages to the local rebel junta.

Washington, May 11.—Following the complete collapse of the Carranza regime in Mexico a new government with Gen. Adolfo De La Huerta at its head has been formed. This announcement was made here today by the mission of the revolution, whose chief is Senor Alvaro Torre Diaz.

The new Government already is functioning and is understood to have indicated that it desires the recognition of the United States. A telegram on that subject has been received from Sonora, seat of the new government.

The rapid developments, all bloodless, demanded discussion by the cabinet at its meeting today, but, as usual, nothing official was announced following the meeting. The situation was called for discussion principally because the new anti-Carranza, anti-autocratic dictatorial cabal at Mexico City is already functioning, and it is with this regime that the United States army and navy and the State Department must deal unless Carranza, whose whereabouts are unknown, be propped up again at some place within the boundary of Mexico. This, however, is only remotely possible, in the opinion of officials here.

What apparently has been decided is that this government, in its settlements this time, will not invoke the A. B. C. government as co-ferees. Instead it will follow the rule that if the regime does not interfere with the life and property of citizens of the United States it will be recognized.

A peaceful outcome is indicated by the fact that the dispatches today from American consuls and naval officers in Mexican waters declare that all is quiet.

The personnel of the new government follows:

Gen. Dolfo de la Huerta, provisional president.

Gen. Salvador Alvarado, minister of finance.

Gen. Plutarco Calles, minister of war.

Alonso Torre Diaz, minister of state ad interim.

Senor Diaz belongs to the old Diaz family, but General De la Huerta has no family connection with former President Huerta. Interesting, as indicating the closeness of the relations between Gen. Pablo Gonzalez and General Obregon, it was said that Diaz is a close friend of Gonzalez and was suggested by Obregon for his present post.

The new provisional president is now at Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, where the present revolution was organized. He will proceed to Mexico City, shortly according to the revolutionary mission offices here. He is the present governor of the state of Sonora.

General De la Huerta is about 43 years of age and is described as a man of great executive ability, both as an official and in commercial business. He was prominent in the revolution of 1913 and since that time has been employed by Carranza on special missions to settle internal troubles. Carranza, however, early in April, endeavored to persuade De la Huerta to kill off the Obregon boom in Sonora and in Mexico generally. De la Huerta resisted and Carranza troops under Manuel Dieguez invaded Sonora to interfere and then the revolution broke out. Sonora achieved its independence and other states of Mexico followed in rapid succession.

The revolutionists held a meeting at Agua Prieta about April 5, declared De la Huerta provisional president and agreed on some of the necessary members of the cabinet for an emergency government.

According to the present plan of the revolution the selection of De la Huerta will be ratified by the governors of the states of Mexico, and he will be endorsed as provisional president ad interim. The next step will be the convocation of the congress which will endorse De la Huerta as provisional president in order that the constitutional continuity of the succession may be preserved and prevent the injection of any objections by outside powers as to the legality of the new regime. Following this the elections will be ordered for July of this year and then a constitutional convention will be called to revise the Carranza constitution of 1917.

So far the most prominent candidates are General Obregon and General Pablo Gonzalez. The fact that these two generals who, with Gen. Benjamin Hill, dominate the country with large military forces, have subordinated themselves to the new civil government, points to a peaceful election without any further coup d'etat.

All is quiet also on the west coast. The Oklahoma and three other destroyers are supposed to be on the way to Mexican waters. The battleship probably will turn up at Vera Cruz.

The State Department had a dispatch from Nogales which apparently asked for the recognition of Sonora, according to the official understanding. The later developments, however, of the functioning of the provisional government showed that such a request would now be not for the recognition of Sonora but for the new government of the whole of Mexico.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS HAVE BIG FISH FRY

Keystone Chapter, No. 110, R. A. M., at their regular convocation at the Hall, Tuesday evening, held an old-fashioned fish fry. A 55 pound Rough River cat was procured for the occasion, which was, together with the coffee etc., prepared by Harve Sheffield and Rowan Holbrook. These two culinary experts were garbed not with the regulation Masonic aprons, though both are eligible to don them, but with long, flowing aprons aptly setting them off, marking them as chefs, bosses of the department in which a hot stove, sizzling pans of grease, heaps of juicy catfish and a pot of coffee, the aroma from which could be detected a block away, were things which they, and they alone, know best how to manipulate. The manner in which the boys fell-to, and devoured those huge, brown chunks of fish was proof positive that Holbrook and Sheffield did their duty perfectly.

Circuit Judge R. W. Slack managed to locate the feeding place, in some manner, although all of the boys absolutely deny having given the Judge any sort of tip as to time or location. Some of those present suggested that some sort of allencer for fish and coffee odor be procured, in the event the occasion happens to be repeated while a term of Circuit Court is being held here by Judge Slack. Ike Mason was also in town that night and that's enough, you know where Ike was when the catfish finally disappeared.

At the conclusion of the fish feast the Chapter session convened, when the Mark Master's degree was conferred.

PLANE CARRYING FOUR SETS ALTITUDE RECORD

El Centro, Calif., May 10.—Capt. Lowell H. Smith, commanding officer of Puercyear Field here, broke what is said to be the world's altitude record for an airplane carrying a pilot and three passengers today, when he ascended 17,000 feet. The airplane was in the air two hours and forty minutes.

HANDS BOUND BY WILSON, HE SAYS

Chamberlain Says Self-Respect Forced Him To Quit Mexican Post

Washington, May 10.—Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, and George Agnew Chamberlain, former consul general in Mexico, testified today before the Senate committee investigating Mexican affairs.

Mr. Lane declared American oil rights in Mexico were as well founded in justice and deserved as much protection as if they had been established in Pennsylvania or California, while Mr. Chamberlain declared the attitude of the United States toward Mexico "has been one of accumulating shame for seven years."

Mexican commercial and official life was "sustained with graft from the lowest tally clerk to the highest cabinet officer," Mr. Chamberlain said, and only a policy of economic control of the country by the United States would re-establish stability.

"Handicapped by Wilson."

Referring to his resignation, Chamberlain asserted that "a self-respecting man couldn't continue to take the money of the United States for hopeless, purposeless service, after he knew the things I was forced to learn." "The President," he said, cut the ground out from under the feet of every diplomatic and commercial agent the United States had in Mexico by repeated statements that "force would never be used in the country."

"The greatest danger now," he added, "is that the United States will be led to treat in some fashion with a new head of affairs in Mexico before we are really decided to deal with the evils. The first step in proper policy is that embarked on by the Senate in refusing to confirm the nomination of another ambassador to that country."

"We ought to follow that up, Mexico—because it hasn't been able to borrow a cent—is in a sound financial situation internationally. It is the most wealthy country in natural resources I have ever visited, which makes the tragedy of its last 100 years under self-determination more glaring. We should offer a loan sufficient to put its finances in shape, bound up with a treaty which would give us direct supervision of its economic affairs. The second step should be to withdraw the present recognition unless that was accepted. Still failing acceptance, the third step should be embargo; the fourth, commercial blockade; the fifth, a naval demonstration. Lastly, a military occupancy."

"Events are moving fast there now, but the essential difficulties will remain under any Mexican administration likely to come into power."

POSITION OF HONOR GIVEN OHIO COUNTIAN

Capt. Allison J. Barnett, of the 39th, Inf., quartered at Fort Dodge, Iowa, some time ago, was given the post of Director of Camp activities, which means he has been placed in charge of all athletics. Capt. Barnett has organized a strong baseball team, among various other athletics, and will bring the Camp Dodge team to Louisville, at an early date, where bats will be crossed with the Camp Taylor outfit.

His selection from amongst the thousands who are in the Iowa Camp is quite an honor and is evidence of unusual confidence placed in Capt. Barnett, by those in authority above him.

INFANT DIES

The six-weeks old child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hanley, of Clear Run, died Wednesday night of bronchial pneumonia.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. E. Fuqua, yesterday afternoon, at Clear Run, where burial took place, at 2 o'clock.

LICENSED TO MARRY.

Earl Faught, Olaton, to Velva Wilson, Rosine.

Virgil O. Hibbs, McHenry, to Mary Moseley, Beaver Dam.

Jasper N. Adair, Berthright, Texas, to Della Worley, Renfrow.

Fred Burgess, South Carrollton, to Grace Kessinger, South Carrollton.

BOY DISAPPEARS IN ABSENCE OF PARENTS

Whereabouts Of Lad Of 13 Is Unknown To Family

Kell, the 13-year old son of Prof. and Mrs. W. R. Carson, of near Beda, in the absence of his parents, left home last Saturday, without leaving any clue as to his intended destination or reason for his departure. Mr. and Mrs. Carson spent the day in Hartford and knew nothing of the boy's disappearance until they reached home that afternoon.

The lad on leaving, secured his best suit of clothes, being dressed in a suit of overalls, these being the sum-total of his wearing apparel. He came to Hartford, riding a portion of the distance in a neighbor's wagon, alighting at the bridge and so far as known, was not seen by anyone here. It is reported that he was seen at Ellmitch, probably the next day, since when nothing has been heard of him.

No reason, known to the family, can be assigned for the boy's leaving home. He was in good health and apparently perfectly satisfied and contented, having at no time intimated or expressed any desire or notion of leaving his home, and nothing had transpired between the boy and parents to give him any excuse for assuming a desire to leave his home.

The lad is rather large for his age, 13; weighs 135 pounds, is 5 feet 5 inches tall; complexion light; blue eyes; hair slightly inclined to curl and has thick lips. Wore a green cap and in all probability is wearing overalls or blue serge suit.

Any information leading to his location will be highly appreciated by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carson, R. F. D. No. 3, Hartford, Ky.

DR. ALEXANDER MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

In accordance with the call, heretofore published, a number of ex-students of Dr. Wayland Alexander, deceased, met at the Court house last Friday night in an enthusiastic meeting and perfected an organization to be known as the "Wayland Alexander Memorial Association," by the election of Dr. E. B. Pendleton president and Rowan Holbrook, secretary-treasurer.

A committee to have general supervision of the association's work, composed of the following, was appointed: Miss Sue Yeiser, Mrs. J. S. Glenn, Mrs. J. H. B. Carson, Ozna Shults and James H. Williams.

The supreme object of the association is to secure donations from former students of Dr. Alexander, in a sufficient sum to procure and erect a fitting monument to his memory, an ever-present reminder and token of appreciation of the great work performed by the deceased educator.

Quite a number of substantial subscriptions have been received and those who desire to have a part in this worthy undertaking should forward their subscription to the treasurer, Rowan Holbrook, Hartford.

IN COUNTY COURT.

W. D. Royal qualified as collector of taxes in the Fordsville Graded School District on the 10th.

S. T. Barnett was appointed and qualified as a member of the Ohio County Board of Drainage Commissioners, May 13th.

Mrs. Laura Kennedy was appointed and qualified as guardian of her children, on May 12th.

Jake Autry was appointed guardian of his minor children, recently.

R. C. Owen was appointed administrator of the estate of Edward Johnson, deceased, on the 6th of May.

Ida Kelley qualified as administratrix of the estate of H. C. Crowe, on the 11th of May.

Minaerva Mackey was appointed administratrix of S. A. Mackey, deceased, May 11th.

Emma B. E. Fulkerson was appointed administratrix of Mrs. Susan M. Everly, May 13th.

PEACE RESOLUTION UP IN SENATE TODAY

Washington, May 10.—A vote by Thursday or Friday on the resolution to end the status of war with Germany and Austria was the aim of Senate leaders in arranging today for calling up the resolution tomorrow, the Republican plan to keep it constantly before the Senate until the vote is reached and leaders of both parties said little discussion was anticipated.

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, a Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, and a leader of the so-called "mild reservation" group in the treaty fight, is to speak tomorrow against the Knox measure proposing repeal of the German and Austrian war declarations. Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, the administration leader, plans to speak Wednesday against the resolution. Only two or three speeches on the Republican side are planned, Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Republican whip, stated today in the Senate and he added that he was advised that the Democratic speechmaking also promised to be brief.

COLBY IS GROOMED BY WILSON REPORT

Washington, May 10.—Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, is the man President Wilson has picked as the right candidate to carry on the fight for the League of Nations, as Democratic presidential nominee, it is reported among well informed Democrats here today.

One report is to the effect that the President took Mr. Colby into the Cabinet with the express purpose of grooming him for the Democratic nomination on the league issue.

Some thought Attorney General Palmer would get the White House approval. But for many reasons this appears to be erroneous.

William G. McAdoo has been mentioned. They say Mr. McAdoo is winning now on his own merits and can get the nomination without White House help and in spite of White House preference for somebody else.

OHIO CIRCUIT COURT FINISHED YESTERDAY

The May Term of the Ohio Circuit Court was brought to an end yesterday at noon. The Court disposed of all the cases ready for adjustment and transacted a large volume of business, getting the docket in good shape in the short session just ended.

The actions of J. B. McConnel vs. Nancy Fulkerson; Alva Karnes vs. Fred M. Klein; E. P. Allee, Adm'r. vs. Casualty Insurance Co.; R. Holbrook et al. vs. Alonzo Bartlett; Eugene Oller vs. J. K. Moore; Elizabeth Rayner vs. Ernest Basham and Herbert Midkiff vs. Alva Carter, were continued to next term of Court.

Some of the more important cases tried since last Friday were: Sarah J. Stewart vs. W. J. Stewart, appeal dismissed; L. E. Everly vs. Adams Express Co., verdict for plaintiff in sum of $59.25; U. S. Carson guardian, vs. A. M. Kirk, et al., verdict for defendants; Nannie Vance adm'r. vs. Broadway Coal Mining Co., verdict for defendant; Tom Wilson vs. Bond Brothers, verdict for defendants; Henry L. Stearnsman vs. D. E. Englund et al., dismissed settled; W. E. Porter vs. Wiley Cook, judgment for plaintiff, awarding land in controversy etc., to him; Sarah C. Smith et al. vs. Exparto; S. B. Westfield vs. F. M. Westfield et al., judgment and order of sale in each of the two above cases; S. B. Wigginton vs. J. D. Holbrook, judgment for defendant.

Of the entire number of jurors regularly summoned for service, only one remained through the term of court, the others having been excused.

BEAVER DAM ENTERTAINS HARTFORD SENIOR CLASS

The Senior Class of Beaver Dam High School entertained the Hartford Seniors at the home of Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Tartar, assisted by Mrs. Tartar, last Saturday night.

Games and contests were enjoyed by all present, after which refreshments were served. A most enjoyable evening was spent by the Hartford boys and girls in our neighboring town.

MRS. MARY HILL.

Mrs. Mary Hill, an aged and respected lady, widow of William Hill, died at her home near Salem, Butler County, (adjacent to Cromwell), Sunday. Burial of the remains took place at Salem, Tuesday.

The deceased lady was formerly a Miss Tichenor, and was born and reared in the Centertown country, where she has quite a number of friends and relatives.

HARTFORD HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES

Year Marked By Success, Commencement Very Interesting

The Hartford Graded and High School was brought to a final close yesterday, marked by exercises last night, graduating one of the largest classes of recent years, 15 receiving diplomas.

Powell Tichenor, whose subject was "Launched, Where shall we Anchor," delivered the class address, while Miss Martha Carolyn Pate, was the Valedictorian, discussing the subject of "The American Girl's Inheritance." Each of the class representatives acquitted themselves with pronounced credit, at the same time doing honor to the class of 1920.

Dr. J. J. Tigert, of the Kentucky State University, Lexington, delivered the address, which was able and enjoyed by the large gathering, filling the auditorium of the Methodist Church.

The scholarship medal was awarded to Hulbert Crowder, member of the Senior Class. Four students were so nearly together on their grades that it was necessary to extend their averages to fractions as small as one-hundredth. The winner made an average of 94.95; Miss Xouatt Rhoads, also a member of the Senior class received 94.92; Dick Williamson, a Freshman, made 94.6 and Luthor Turner drew 94.8. The latter was also a Freshman.

Never before, perhaps, has that number of students finished with such splendid grades and so nearly together.

The haccalaureato sermon was delivered Sunday, at the Methodist Church, by Dr. W. N. Briney, pastor of the Broadway Christian Church, Louisville. Dr. Briney had for his subject, "Character building." A real sermon of strength was delivered in a pleasing manner, evidencing the fact that Dr. Briney is a man of deep thought with strong convictions that character and station worth while is builded, not inherited; that each individual is the architect of his own edifice, if any is to stand after his departure.

The play, "Safety First" by the Junior Class, delivered Monday night was to a capacity house, well rendered and immensely enjoyed by all.

Tuesday night the Senior Class presented "And Home Came Ted," which was likewise played before an audience taxing to the utmost the capacity of the large auditorium, and like the night before, rendering of the popular play did full credit to both class and instructors.

Wednesday night was designated as Class night, and the program rendered was highly creditable to the Students and to the School. Powell Tichenor, Class President, delivered the welcome and farewell address.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION TO OPEN PLAY GROUND

On Friday afternoon, May 28, 1920 at 2 o'clock, Prof. Graham, Supt. of Schools of Davess Co., will address the people of Hartford at the High School Building, on vital interests of the day. Those who fail to hear him will miss a treat.

Immediately after the speaking there will be a formal opening of the school playgrounds, which have recently been equipped with an up-to-date outfit for the pleasure of the young folks, by the Parent-Teacher Association. Refreshments will be sold on the grounds to help pay expenses. The Committee appointed for the occasion, request volunteer helpers at the School grounds, May 20th, 1920, to prepare the grounds and erect equipment purchased for the play ground.

Every man interested, please come and help.

AGED LADY DEAD

Mrs. — Duke, widow of Stephen Duke, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Tom Taylor, near Cromwell, in Butler County, Sunday, at the age of 91 years, past.

Mrs. Duke's maiden name was Baltzell, being a sister to Caleb Baltzell, deceased. She was reared in Ohio County and will be well remembered by quite a large section.

WILHELM IN EXILE HALE AND HEARTY

First "Close-Up" Of Ex-Emperors Given By Lady Writer.

By Zoe Beckley.
(Louisville Herald.)

Doorn, Holland, April 23.—This morning at the gate of their new estate here I saw the former Kaiser, who had motored from Amerongen to inspect the elaborate alterations and additions going busily on at Doorn house.

Despite the tales of the ex-emperor's aged and infirm appearance, I saw in him a man of normally hale and sprightly bearing.

It is true that he wears a beard, which adds years to any man's score, and it is true that his close-cropped beard is gray. This mustache which once turned so kaiserly upward is now less assertive.

The cheeks above it are firm and slightly ruddy. The blue eyes above it are much underlined, but clear and far-seeing, and the whole face either that of a chief unchastened or a man able to mask successfully both knowing fear and annihilating shame.

Spare, but Not Stooped.

His figure is spare, but by no means stooped. He even moves with a trace of military briskness.

His clothes were hybrid. He wore a reefer of tobacco brown, short trousers to match, with brown shoes and black leather leggings, of a military type.

His soft hat was of brownish gray, and when he took it off in acknowledgment of a bow I made solely in the interest of journalism, I noticed his thinning hair was grayer than his beard.

Until he stepped off the motor car, a short military cap of olive gray lined with dark fur hung from his shoulders.

Attendant Takes Cape.

This attendant in plain clothes removed and carried, as a small party walked from the car up thirty feet of pathway to an obscure little gate, through which the once All Highest passed to avoid entering the main road.

As for the ex-kaiser's wife, perhaps all the world knows she is a beautiful woman. The handsome stature of the one-time empress of Germany surprised me; likewise her sweet and gentle-featured, rosy face, her glory of snow-white hair and the modishness of her garments.

While there was nothing about William Hohenzollern that stirred my humanitarian sympathies, I was startled to find myself feeling sorry for this grave, mysterious looking woman who shares his ignominy and his exile; who must live henceforth separated from children and grandchildren, alone with her fallen war lord, in her moated chateau, in a foreign land, among people whose deepest feeling toward her is faint curiosity.

Scarcely Five Feet Away.

I was scarcely five feet from her as she gave her black gloved hand to her husband and descended from the car.

As she glanced in my direction, apparently wondering who and what I might be, standing there by her little private gateway, where no Hollander has thus far ventured, I saw a very real and human sadness in her eyes.

She walked up the path more slowly than the others, possibly owing to heart troubles from which she suffers. Her head, with its glistening silver-white hair, was held a little to one side, as if she were tired.

I think Augusta Victoria Hohenzollern must be very tired indeed; tired of fire and steel and blood and death and guilt and flight and isolation and ignominy and loneliness and all the punishment women suffer from forces which are out of their control.

Dressed With Elegance.

She was dressed with elegance. Her purple velvet, moderately brimmed hat was trimmed with flat ostrich plumes of its same color, and she wore no veil.

Her suit was a semi-tailored one of velvet, either black or dark blue, with a coat to the knees, and skirt quite long—so long that Paris would have laughed at it.

A long, thin gold chain round her neck was the only jewelry I could see. The car was an ordinary limousine of good lines, painted olive green and ornamented with brass. It was driven by a drab-uniformed German with military cap and chinstrap.

There were two men in civilian clothes inside the car, both of whom got out and entered the wooded grounds of Doorn house with the ex-Kaiser and Kaiserin.

Unlocked Gate.

Two other men in plain clothes, who stood beside the little gate a quarter of an hour before the owners arrived, unlocked it as they drove up, and fastened it again directly they entered.

The party walked up the sun-dappled wood path toward the chateau and were soon lost to view.

They remained two hours and a half, emerging from the grounds by the main gate and passing through the village of Doorn on the straight road to Amerongen, ten kilometers east.

Herr Hohenzollern has the reputation, both at Amerongen and Doorn, of being "a very good boy." That is, he behaves with great seemliness, modesty and tact.

Arrange All Movements

All winter his every movement from Bentinck castle in Amerongen was arranged for beforehand. If he wished to visit Utrecht, Arnhem or Doorn, for any reason, his adjutant invariably telephoned to Dutch military authorities and permission was given for the ex-emperor to go to such and such place at such and such time—on Thursday, say.

If it poured cats and dogs, and Hohenzollern left unequal to the journey, the adjutant always called up again and politely asked if the visitor at Amerongen might make it Friday instead.

He never went anywhere outside the castle walls without asking. Recently the Dutch government has given him a blanket permission to go any time he chooses to his new house at Doorn, to supervise the extensive work going on there.

On The Lookout.

Two of Holland's state police on bicycles are always near the Hohenzollern car on these visits, and are strictly responsible for his safety and good behavior.

They are sharply on the lookout for suspicious looking persons, and require every foreigner and everybody seen frequently about Doorn house to produce passports, answer questions and promise not to take photographs. They followed me to my hotel, viewed my papers, made notes, instructed me to call at police headquarters for permission, looking ruefully at the kodak and the incriminating word "journaliste" written on my passport.

As the most hated human being in the world, Hohenzollern is viewed by the people of Amerongen and Doorn with pure indifference which only the phlegmatic are capable.

It is said that even the burgomaster of Doorn who together with head of town council was invited to a banquet given last night at Bentinck castle in Amerongen accepted the Hohenzollern invitation with something less than enthusiasm.

I have asked everybody, from shopkeeper to children, how they felt toward the coming of the Kaiser, without a single note of pleasure in response. The shopkeeper turned up his nose and remarked that he had sufficient clientele as it was, and preferred selling to customers he knew he could please than to cater to others who might be difficult.

The hotel man made a wry face and complained it would bring trippers and excursionists to Doorn and banish high-class visitors who had come here.

An old woman said: "Alas, yes, the German is coming. Why was Doorn the unlucky place he chose? It will never be quiet and elegant again."

Some children had waved their hands and called out, "Good day, Mr. Kaiser," as the war lord's car passed.

They pulled sober little faces when I asked if they were glad he was coming to live here, and said, "No, my lady, for we used to walk and play with our dolls in the woods of Doorn house. And now Mr. Kaiser has put a fence around it and we can't get near."

Transfer Service

I ask the patronage of the citizens of Hartford and the traveling public in general for the following reasons:

During the past 3 years I have tried to serve you well and have made regular trips between Hartford and Beaver Dam, rain or shine, summer and winter, good roads and bad.

Others have not made regular trips and only serve you in good weather.

I charged you only 50c and war tax, through the winter just the same as in summer.

Others are charging 75c.

I have never failed to give Hartford a good word or do its citizens a good deed whenever the opportunity presented itself.

My cars leave Hartford at the following hours: 4 a. m.; 9:40 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.; 2 p. m.; and 7 p. m. Hartford headquarters at Casabier & Taylor's Restaurant.

I sincerely thank you for the many favors of the past and cordially invite your patronage for the future.

COST OF LIVING BOUNDED UPWARD

General Advance Of 21 Per Cent In Last Year Is Shown

By Frederick M. Kerby.

Boston, May 8.—A jump of 7 per cent in the average cost of living for American wage earners took place between November, 1919 and March, 1920.

This is the result of studies just completed by the National Industrial Conference Board here, an organization of employers which aims to secure accurate information on industrial questions for the purpose of dealing intelligently with their employees.

The boost of 7 per cent took place concurrently with the efforts of Attorney General Palmer to "reduce the cost of living." This brings the total increase since July, 1914, to about 95 per cent. The increase within the last twelve months is about 21 per cent, according to the board.

The figures are the result of the board's sixth survey of changes in the cost of living in the United States.

Food up 100 Per cent.

Food prices in March were 100 per cent higher than average prices before the war. Quotations on which this estimate is based were supplied by over 2,000 dealers in fifty-one cities.

Rents averaged 49 per cent higher in March, 1920, than they had been in July, 1914, according to figures furnished by 352 agencies in 155 cities. This marks an average increase of 8 per cent since November, 1919, and of 22 per cent since March, 1919. And these changes refer to changes in rents for low and medium priced houses. Steam-heated apartments and other expensive dwellings showed greater rent advances. Rents went up in all sections of the country and in cities of every size. Everywhere there was still a greater shortage of houses and building costs were rising. Still higher rents were therefore predicted.

Clothing in the budget item for which the greatest price increases were recorded. The advance of 177 per cent between July, 1914, and March, 1920, represents a rise of 18 per cent since November, 1919, and of 53 per cent since March, 1919. These estimates are based on replies

The Salvation Army, praised as an organization that in peace as well as war has rendered a service of comfort and aid with a remarkable efficiency, has received the endorsement of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. Aid of the Kentucky club women has been pledged to the Second Salvation Army Home Service Appeal, May 10th., to May 20th.

The letter of Mrs. Lafon Riker, President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs follows:

Harrodsburg, Ky.

April 17, 1920

Hon. Henry S. Barker, State Chairman, Salvation Army Home Service Campaign, Louisville, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:—The Executive Committee of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs most heartily endorses the Second Home Service Campaign of the Salvation Army.

It is glad to put the stamp of approval on the work of an organization that, in peace and war has rendered a service of comfort and aid with a remarkable efficiency that commands our gratitude and admiration.

Very truly yours,

M. G. RIKER,

President.

to questionnaires returned by 209 dry goods dealers in 75 cities.

Sundries Soar Too.

Carfare, furniture and household furnishings made large advances in cost since 1914.

The increases between July, 1914 and March 1920, in the cost of all sundries combined has been placed at 83 per cent.

In estimating changes in the family budget as a whole, the increase for each of the major items is weighed according to the expenditures for each by average wage-earning families. These are: for food, 43 per cent of the total; shelter, 18 per cent; clothing 13 per cent; fuel, heat and light, 5 per cent; sundries, 20 per cent.

Suggestion for a Camping Trip.

Buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy before leaving home. As a rule it cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board the cars or steamships and at such times and places it is most likely to be needed. The best way is to have it with you.

SYMPATHY IS WITH THE STEER

From Los Angeles comes the word that in the preparation of a Vitagraph serial a maddened steer, with its neck twisted to the breaking point, finally sent his tormentor, one Roe Ryan, home to bed with three broken ribs and bruises enough to keep him nursing his own injuries for some time. What must we think of that part of the public that craves such exhibitions of cruelty as to make their representation financially profitable? These inhuman scenes thrown upon the screen would have delighted the audiences that crowded two thousand years ago the Roman Coliseum.—Our Dumb Animals.

PLACE BARS OVER WILSON'S WINDOW

Washington, May 9.—The keen solicitude felt by President Wilson's family and physicians for his physical well-being has moved the White House attaches to place heavy bars over the windows of the President's bedroom, which faces south on the second floor of the executive mansion.

The barring of the President's window's which was effected by the erection of a heavy iron grillwork over the entire aperture, was completed without any comment whatever on the part of the White House officials.

No explanation could be elicited as the cause of the barring up the President's window, and every member of the White House staff has been extremely reticent on the subject.

About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. All that is really necessary to afford relief is to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. Try it. It costs but 35 cents per bottle. Large size 60 cents.

10,281 LOSE LIVES IN PARIS FLU EPIDEMIC

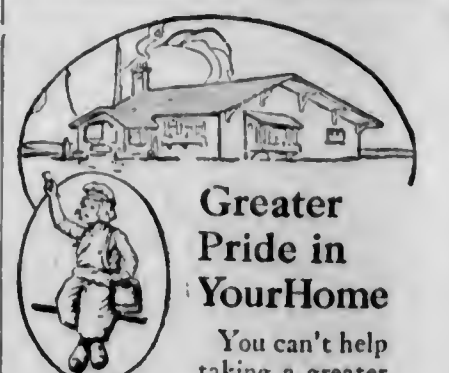

Paris, May 9.—Last year's influenza epidemic in Paris cost 10,281 lives, official figures just published show. Expectant mothers paid the heaviest share of this total. Mortality was five times greater than in previous epidemics.

ROYAL REFUGEES "CHEAP GUESTS" MUST MOVE OUT

London, May 9.—Switzerland is about to expel the various royal refugees who have found asylum within her borders. A diplomatic source, from which this information was obtained, says the royal exiles are keeping away thousands of "regular" visitors from the allied countries.

Former Emperor Charles, of Austria, former King Constantine, of Greece and Ludwig, of Bavaria and the many minor princes and their retinues are not what might be called "paying guests." On the contrary, they all practice rigid economy. Another objection on the part of Switzerland is that most of her royal guests are continually engaged in intrigues for their restoration.

ERNST ENTERS SENATE RACE

CANDIDATE NOTED FOR EXTENSIVE CHARITY WORK

EDUCATOR AND "Y" LEADER

Ardent Supporter of Movement
To Wipe Out Illiteracy

It is hardly necessary to introduce Richard P. Ernst, whose candidacy for the United States Senate has just been announced, to the average Kentuckian.

His name has appeared throughout the state in connection with charitable movements, war campaigns, church and missionary work and drives to aid the schools and school teachers, especially in the mountain districts.

His charitable work, aggressiveness and progressiveness in civic movements and personal popularity have made him one of the most generally admired men in Northern Kentucky.

His extensive work in the interests of his state and its people began immediately upon Mr. Ernst's graduation from the famous Old Centre College, Danville, where he was valedictorian of his class.

Admitted to Bar.

He was admitted to the bar in Kentucky county after examination by Senator John W. Stevenson and Judge William R. Arthur and since has practiced law in Covington and Cincinnati with the same aggressiveness and success that have featured every movement worth while into which he has directed his efforts.

Glancing over the long list of his activities one can see that he continually has enlisted himself in movements in which he could accomplish best results for the people.

As trustee and a member of the Executive Committee of Old Centre College, Kentucky State University at Lexington, and of Pikeville College, his excellent advice and assistance in matters of importance have been extremely beneficial to the students.

Wars On Illiteracy.

Recently he has taken a deep interest in the campaign teachers are waging for increased salaries and has been taking active steps to secure better pay both for the teachers of the state and for the professors in our colleges and universities. The mountain schools especially appeal to him and he has been an ardent supporter of the movement to wipe out illiteracy and to offer residents of the mountain districts better facilities for education.

Mr. Ernst's continuous help has been received by the churches of the state, regardless of denomination. He is an elder and succeeded his father as superintendent of the Sunday-school, their terms of service covering a period of nearly 50 years. He has been looking after educational and missionary work in the mountains, as chairman of the State Committee of his church, and has succeeded in more than doubling the amount heretofore given for this purpose.

And his work does not end there. He is president of the Covington Y. M. C. A. and a member of the National War Council. As head of the Y. M. C. A. he has been mainly instrumental in erecting one of the most complete and modern buildings to be found.

Son in Active Service.

He was active in every form of war work and gave continuously of his time, labor and money, whenever called upon. His only son was serving at the front in France, as a captain in the regular army, when the armistice was signed. He had entered the army as a private during the Mexican trouble and later passed his examinations at Washington, winning a second lieutenantcy. Mr. Ernst's son-in-law, John P. Darnall, of Flemingsburg, volunteered as a private and also was in active service at the front.

His wide and extensive business and professional experiences, as counselor and advisor to many large financial and manufacturing concerns, has been of unlimited value to his state and community, as he has been called upon many times to give advice when matters of big moment were being considered.

Mr. Ernst's record of service in the Republican party is a long one.

Good Republican Record.

Beginning as Councilman in Covington, he was kept in office by members of both parties until he insisted on retiring. For many years he was on the State Central Committee and for four years served as its chairman. He has represented his district a number of times at National Conventions and also has been one of the "Big Four" from his state. It was he, who, while state chairman, established state headquarters at Louisville, since continuously maintained by the party. He also has been a liberal financial supporter of the party during all three years and one of its wise counselors.

Mr. Ernst's father was William Ernst, a banker at Lexington, subsequently Covington. His mother was Sarah A. Butler, a Jessamine county girl.

It was through Mr. Ernst's instrumentality that the Covington Industrial Club was developed and through his efforts that the campaign to erect a magnificent headquarters for this remarkable civic organization was successful.

CONGRESS MAY CALL DR. CHARLES W. ELIOT

Congressman urges House Probe Into Charges Against West Point.

Washington, May 9.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard, may have to appear before a committee of Congress to explain what he meant when he said that the educational system at the West Point Military Academy is defective. His criticisms are reported in an address before the Harvard Teachers' Association and in letters to General Ruckman, commander of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery District.

Representative Fred Britten, of Illinois, announced today that he will introduce a resolution in the House tomorrow asking the secretary of war to send all correspondence in the matter to the Military Affairs Committee. This is preliminary to asking the committee to investigate Dr. Eliot's remarks and determine the truth about West Point's methods of education.

Mr. Britten said: "When a man of Dr. Eliot's standing in the educational world says West Point is a good example of what an educational institute should not be, and that this fact was shown by the inefficiency and failure of its graduates during the war, and that in his opinion no American school or college intended for youths between 18 and 22 years old should accept such ill-prepared material as West Point accepts, and he also severely criticizes the teachers as well as their methods. I think it is time for Congress to investigate the matter and see if our curriculum is running in circles and the $20,000 expended on the education of each youth is wasted."

Dr. Eliot should tell the Committee on Military Affairs just where West Point graduates failed and were inefficient during the war, and how, in his opinion, this may be obviated in the future. He should be given a full and thorough hearing before the committee.

When the baby takes too much food the stomach turns; the result is indigestion, sourness and vomiting. Frequently the bowels are involved and there is colic pains and diarrhoea. RUMANIA EAGER FOR PEACE

London, May 1.—Rumania is making a new and determined effort to get back to pre-war conditions as rapidly as possible, according to dispatches received here from Bucharest. The program put forward by the new premier General Averescu, includes: Immediate peace with the Bolsheviks.

Disbandment of the Rumanian army.

Utilization of army engineers and other technical units as labor battalions to restore railways, roads, telegraph and telephone lines.

Gradual bestowal of civic and political rights upon women.

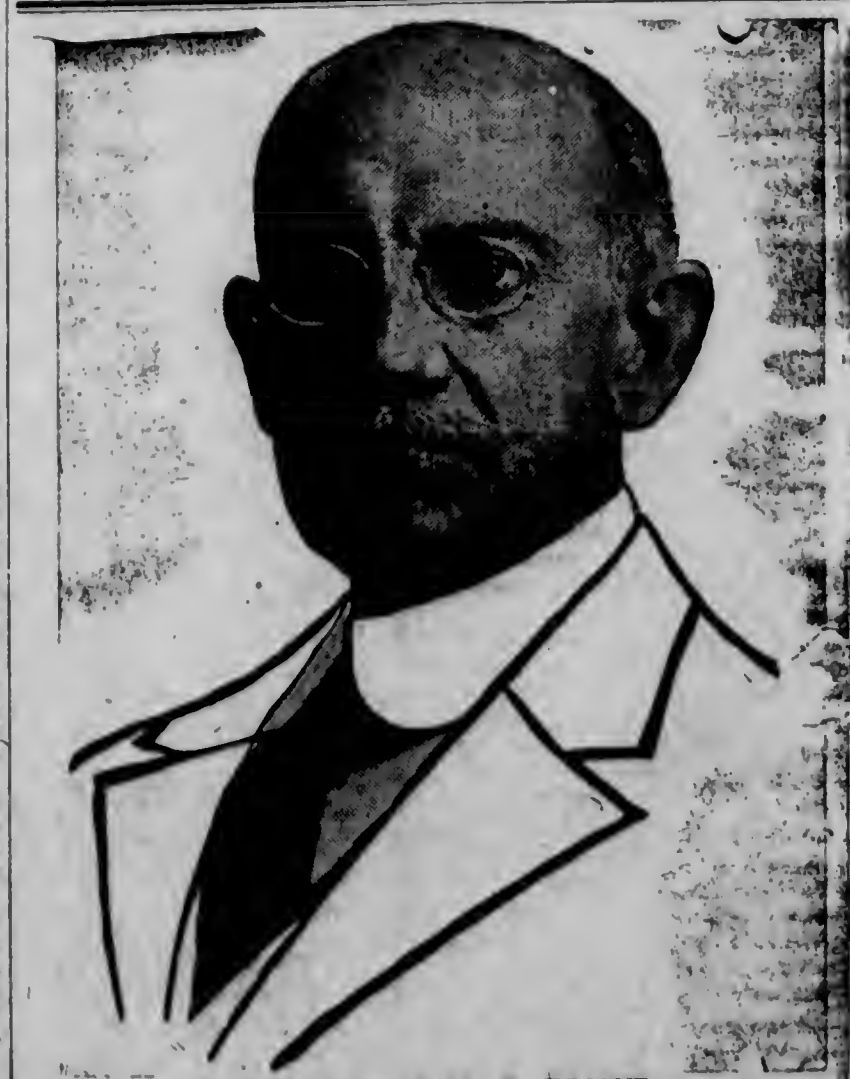

Keeping elections free from the influence of civil servants.

Reduction of the Rumanian Chamber from 524 to 300 members.

Rumania's greatest need is railway stock and agricultural implements. Help is expected from Japan, when Prince Charles has gone on such a mission.

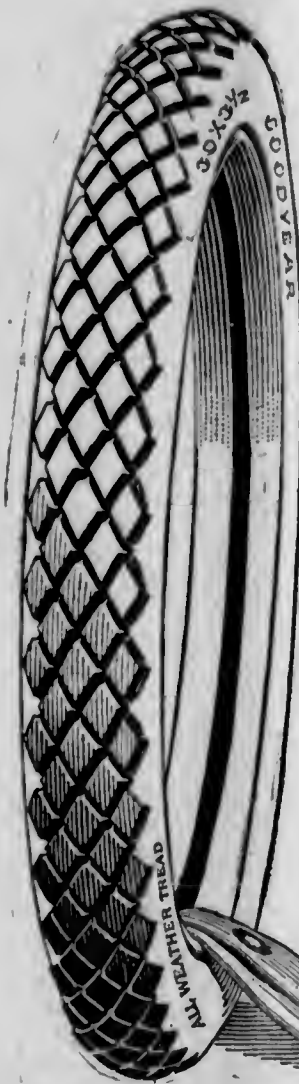

Tchitcherin, Russian foreign commissary, has promised Premier Averescu to recognize Rumania's claim to Bessarabia, formerly part of Russia, and to return Rumanian gold and securities sent to Russia during the German invasion.

Surgeons agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the first treatment is most important. When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, Borozone is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

Goodyear Leadership— and Tires for the Smaller Cars

Enormous resources and scrupulous care have produced in Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars a high relative value not exceeded even in the famous Goodyear Cords on the world's highest-priced automobiles.

In addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear manufactures an average of 20,000 small car tires a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

Last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Their extreme worth is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure
Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure
Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are built to protect casings. Why endanger a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of $4.50 less merit. 30 x 3½ size in waterproof bag..... $4.50

MINISTER DENIES JAPAN IS MENACE

War Profits Being Used To Build 29 New Colleges Methodist Told.

Des Moines, Ia., May 8.—Dr. Frank Herron Smith, of Seoul, Korea, speaking tonight at the fraternal delegate from the Japanese Methodist Church to the Methodist general conference, stated that Japan is not a military menace, adding that the boys no longer are anxious to enter either the military or naval academy.

Dr. Smith gave us further evidence that Japan is "turning from militaristic tendencies," the fact that the enormous war profits of that nation are being used by the government to build twenty-nine new colleges, ten new universities and to educate hundreds of Japanese young men, both at home and abroad, to assume professorships in these new institutions. He said the most popular word in Japan today is "demokurashi," which he explained, is the Japanese equivalent for democracy. The four great problems in Japan today, Dr. Smith declared, are the high cost of living, labor agitation, Bolshevism and universal suffrage. An election to be held throughout the empire next Monday has to do with the matter of suffrage, he said, and bids fair to "mean great things" for Japan.

Dr. Smith stated that in twelve years the membership of the Methodist Church of Japan has doubled and contributions are twice as much per capita as in America. Greetings from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, were brought to the general conference by Dr. Charles W. Tadlock, who expressed a strong hope that the two great Methodisms of America may be soon united.

Memorial services for bishops and a number of other church leaders who died in the last four years will be held by the conference tomorrow.

FRIDAY.....MAY 14

About the best thing we know of,
to use on a Bolshevik is a Pole.

A headline in a Democratic paper reads "Wilson uncompromising." We say you said a mouthful then brother.

The Kentucky Derby and Carranza's derby were in progress upon the same day. The difference being, the Kentucky affair was run off and Carranza ran away.

The average cost of one's living is but 21 per cent higher than it was a year ago. It is not likely to be more than 21 per cent higher next year than now, so why worry? Maybe you won't be here to enjoy it, and for that reason you should make the most of it now.

It was not so hot Sunday, but we noticed a few of the younger generation out without coats, and the last one of them wore a wild, screaming silk shirt. We didn't know that they were so much hotter than the ordinary line of goods. But then, of course we never had a right to know.

Of the working days out of the past 365, and then some, we have failed only on three occasions to punch the time clock at this office, but if nothing happens, other than the most unfavorable weather and water conditions, and death, we are going to take a week off, commencing with tomorrow or the next day. We are trusting to "pot luck", for some one to round up matter for the paper, but whether we do or do not succeed, barring accidents, we will have no hand in the coming issue.

The unreserved adoption of the League of Nations, by this Nation, is to be the paramount issue in the coming campaign for President, so we are told, made so by President Wilson's telegram to Democrats of Oregon, on the eve of their primary. Declaring the party, meaning the Democratic party, had "the honor of the nation" in its hands. The only true Americanism, he said was "that which puts America at the front of the free nations and redeems the great promises which we made to the world." It would be a violation of such promises, he said, to attach reservations to the treaty etc. What we want most to know, is, who promised the world so and so? And the world is bound to answer, nobody but Woodrow Wilson, the self-appointed, unadvised spokesman for the United States of America, and that too after he had been repudiated at the polls in an unmistakable manner by those who ought to be the sovereign rulers upon such questions. If one man can designate himself the American Nation and bind the country to do his bidding, then, indeed, has the edifice called a free democracy been shattered into small fragments, in America.
The injunction given by the wise men of long-ago, to steer clear of foreign entanglements is held for naught. If the issue upon which the Democrats are to go to the people in November, for continuance in power is to be in chief, that emanating from the secluded corridors of the Whitehouse, the unreserved adoption of the Treaty and League as "I" willed upon the Country, then the opposition, in our judgment, has all but won the coming election.

There is a campaign on in Kentucky, for the purpose of securing home service funds for the Salvation Army. Ohio County has been allotted as its quota, approximately $1,000.
At a committee meeting held here Sunday, an estimate of the amount to be raised in each of the districts within the County was made, appointments of district or precinct chairmen to have charge of collections were also made and notices have gone out to each. The general plan of securing our quota in a drive of one day was thought best, and tomorrow was decided upon as the time. Let each and everyone make an effort to secure at least as much as the amount asked for.

Hartford and Beaver Dam are undertaking to raise one-fifth of the total sum, or $200.00. Other districts have been asked for a minimum of $20.00, ranging from that amount up to $75. There can be no possible doubt of the fact that the S. A. is worthy of our best endeavors. All agree that it fully met every test during the recent war, and nothing has ever been heard to detract from the splendid work of this unselfish band of earnest, self-sacrificing Christian workers, whose efforts are continuously being expended in behalf of the most lowly, that man and woman not reached through any of the various other agencies for good. We can serve ourselves, humanity and the Master, by contributing a small sum and lending our efforts to this most worthy cause.
Get busy, raise the amount tomorrow. If you don't succeed tomorrow, do it the next day. Finish the job with neatness and dispatch and report your action to County Chairman L. G. Barrett, Hartford.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

If the most of us would THINK twice before speaking a lot of us would have precious little to say. In fact, there is grave doubt as to whether, with many of us, speech would not become a lost art.

The school here commenced to close Monday night and finished the commencement night before last with considerable though successful effort.
The students who finished are just now beginning.

"Old Timer" J. H. Glenn, says he is badly handicapped when it comes to fishing, as his right hand is almost useless in digging bait and handling the rod. He says he never could have any luck in left-handed fishing.

Quite a number of our readers have come forward with suggestive remedies for breaking up that hard-pan on Bat Nall's head, they range from four-year-old dogwood cudgels to nitro-glycerine. One enthusiastic party said that nothing short of "T.
N. T." would probably produce the desired effect.

Duke, the foreman, had some slight scalp trouble a few days ago and drifted into a drug store, in town to procure some sort of remedy that he thought to be good, but the druggist in a wise-know-what-you-want kind of manner looked at Duke's Jome and told him that what he most needed was coconut oil. Ramey says that oil may be good stuff, but what bothered him was, the whyforesness of so much mirth of by-standers and others at the drugist's suggestion of coconut oil for his head.

Harve Sheffield went into the drugstore the other day to procure a dose of medicine. Leach, the drugist, fixed the medicine, which Harve swallowed, at the same time placing a quarter on the counter for payment.
The drugist, instead of taking the two-bits, laid a dime down on the counter. Sheffield looked at the mixer of physics and asked him what he meant and was told to keep his money and take the dime, as anyone who took the medicine he dished out was entitled to free service and pay on the side. (Not an ad.)

Excuse us for mentioning it again, but B. Nall had a birthday last week, or thought he did, and undertook.
In fact he did go through with some sort of celebration in honor of the event, which he thought was the 46th occasion. Bat got a bit mixed on his dates, and to his surprise, he held the celebration in memory of the eventful date some two or three days before the anniversary and instead of its being his 46th birthday it was his 56th. From the manner in which Mr. Nall is capering around, we are not surprised at his crowding the years down a half score, but there is no good purpose served by his counterfitting the date.

R. P. ERNST OUT FOR U. S. SENATOR

Covington, Ky., May 10, 1920.

For some time past it has been known to many of my Republican friends throughout the State that I would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

I now desire to make public announcement of that fact.

I keenly appreciate the responsibility and importance of this high position, and, in the event of my election, I will give to the duties of this office the best there is in me and will represent the people of Kentucky and of the United States to the best of my ability.

I desire, also, to take advantage of this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to the many Republicans throughout the State who have, without solicitation on my part, so kindly and generously offered me their support.

RICHARD P. ERNST.

The Accurate Drop Corn Planter

THE real reason for using a corn planter is to save time. However, if the planter is not accurate, it would pay better to plant by hand. Accuracy in a corn planter means uniform drop—the desired number of kernels in each and every hill. If the planter is not accurate, a loss in yield will result.

Accuracy in planting has been the main object in designing the John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter.
The advantage of using this planter is that with proper handling it will plant two, three or four kernels in the hill, as desired. Every one of these machines is rigidly inspected before leaving the factory.

The seed-dropping device on this planter is an improvement over all other seed-dropping devices.
The John Deere No. 999 is equipped with John Deere NATURAL CELL FILL, Edge Delivery Seed Plates.
The surface of the hopper bottom and the openings to the seed cells are oblique or sloping. The weight of the corn in the hopper causes the seed to move toward and enter the cells of the seed plate in its natural position. The kernels do not have to be tipped on edge, and, therefore, each cell is filled readily.

The Full Variable Drop Planter

The John Deere No. 999 Planter has a variable drop consisting of a train of gears constantly in mesh.
With this device, two, three or four kernels can be planted as desired merely by shifting the foot lever.
The gears are enclosed in an oil-tight case, and it never is necessary to remove them from this case, which is dust-proof.

The driving mechanism has this advantage over the ordinary—it never is separated. Other devices open and close at every actuation of the fork by the wire and are constantly being released under strain, causing considerable wear and reducing the life of the most important parts of the planter. The device on the John Deere No. 999 Planter can be shifted at any time in the travel of the machine.

The John Deere No. 999 is a real variable drop planter—it varies the distance in drilling as well as the number of kernels per hill in hilling, and gives a greater variety of distances without the use of extra sprockets and plates.

All corn plates on this planter have 16 cells;
therefore, the same drilling distances can be obtained as on planters having 8, 12 and 16-cell plates, and without the change of plates.

Hilling or Drilling

Change from hilling to drilling or back to hilling is made instantly. No extra attachments or extra tools are required. Simply pressing the foot lever makes the change.

The foot drop provided on this planter is of special use in hill dropping with the foot; also when planting rows at the ends of the field.

Plants Many Varieties of Corn

Seed plates can be furnished for handling practically any kind of corn; also sorghum, milo, maize and other seeds.

The improved form of cut-off has a quick action. The spring knocker causes each kernel to be discharged upon the valve without fail.

There are no ridges or obstructions in the valves to catch and hold the kernels. Sufficient opening is left just above the upper valve to enable operator to see the kernels as they are collected for the hill.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Dairy Men Discover Value of Good Sire

From Attala County, Miss., new evidence of the popularity of the bull association among farmers with small dairy herds has come to the attention of the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, through the announcement that a cooperative bull association has been organized in that community.

Dairying is almost a new venture with many of the farmers in Attala County. Perhaps it is this very newness and the consequent lack of prejudice in favor of old methods of doing things that has made it so comparatively easy to introduce this modern method of improving dairy cattle. Many of the dairymen in the community have shown themselves to be progressive, but one man especially stands out as a leader in this respect. We will call him Green. He is a good old southerner who is said to have farmed for some 50 years.

When the agricultural extension agents from the Federal and State departments came into the community to organize a bull association Green was the man they called on first. They knew from experience that he would be very likely to see the advantage of such an association to the community, and would be a strong factor in swinging into line other farmers in the neighborhood. As was expected, Green at once saw the advantages that the proposition offered, and the very next day he started in on the preliminary work of organizing a bull association "block."

A few days later the extension men heard over the telephone that a block was practically assured. Later, however, Green telephoned that some of the prospective members were dropping out, as they had remembered a disastrous experience of some years before, when they had paid a high price for a worthless stallion. This objection was met, however, with the assurance that the Federal and State agents were endorsing this project and would see that no one was swindled.

Later on Green informed the county agent that a block of 40 cows had been formed and could be signed up if the agent and specialist would come out to the schoolhouse and clear up certain doubtful points. This was done, and 6 farmers signed up 43 cows, so that $430 was then available for buying a bull.

Others Want to Get In

Things were moving along in such a promising manner that the farmers who had refused to join decided that it would be a good thing to get into the association after all, and requested membership in this block.

"No sir," said Green, who had been elected director of the block. "You had your chance and wouldn't come in. Organize a block of your own. We don't want you in ours."

With the arrival of the excellent Jersey bull, Oxford Mon Plaisir, 169-738, which had been secured for the use of block members, the farmers who had at first refused to join the association were doubly anxious to get in, but were again told that they would have to organize a block of their own. Thus it appears that the doubting ones, who are found in every community, had to pay the penalty of hesitating. While they may still get into the association and enjoy its benefits by organizing a new block, they have lost a great deal of time.

Don't Buy a Horse Till You Know He Is Sound.

The soundness of a horse is one of the first considerations of the buyer and should be of the breeder. If the animal is not sufficiently sound to withstand the use for which he is intended, the logical time to learn of this is before the purchase.

Selection must be based primarily on a thorough, systematic examination; the examination should be based on a clear knowledge of desirable and undesirable qualities.

Not only the presence of unsoundness but also the condition or seriousness of the unsoundness should be noted.

Temporary unsoundness should be distinguished from permanent unsoundness.

A hurried examination is likely to prove a disappointment.

Observe blemishes, vice, faulty conformation, unsoundness, and general characteristics.

Common blemishes are scars from old wounds, poll evil, scratches, shoe boils, and small ruptures.

Common vices are halter pulling, cribbing, kicking, stall walking, weaving, and biting.

Common faults of conformation are straight shoulders, crooked, weak, or improperly set legs, ewe neck, long, weak back, and drooping croup.

Common unsoundnesses are splints, thoroughpin, spavin, curb, extreme fetula, ringbone, side bones, extreme atrophy of muscles, contracted tendons, and broken wind.

General characteristics include fleshing, temperament, quality, color, and age.

In final selection, look for the good qualities and weigh them against the defects.

Write to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for a copy of Farmers' Bulletin 779, "How to Select a Sound Horse."

A Bushel of Corn.

The laws of most of the States recognize 70 pounds of ears or 56 pounds of shelled corn as a bushel of corn. These weights are reliable, says the United States Department of Agriculture, when the ears or shelled corn contain only 15 per cent of water. About one-third the weight of ear corn as customarily harvested in the Northern States is water, while that harvested in the drier sections of the South contains less than 15 per cent of water.

When To Cultivate Corn.

The best answer to the question of how frequently corn should be cultivated, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, is that it should be cultivated often enough to keep down weeds and to maintain constantly a loose soil until the corn has attained its growth. To this end a greater number of cultivations will be necessary when rains at intervals of about a week cause the surface soil to run together and crust. This crust must be broken and the soil mulch restored, or excessive run-off and evaporation will soon rob the soil of its moisture.

Promptness in restoring the soil mulch after a rain is important. With double cultivators widened and by driving astride each alternate row, the mulch is restored in half the time necessary to drive astride of every row.

Awkward Ways Waste Energy.

From buttoning shoes to washing dishes, there is an easy and awkward way of doing all work, as everyone well knows. Now, along comes the scientist, who says his experiments show that aside from feeling and looking more comfortable when you do your work in the right way, you also save considerable energy.

This fact is one of several which recent experiments made by the Office of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture have disclosed. These experiments have been made for the purpose of determining the energy requirements of an individual in the various circumstances of his daily life and for use in estimating the amounts and kinds of food required by him to meet the needs of his body for energy.

It was found in the homely, everyday task of dish-washing that, when a woman washed dishes on a table so low that she was obliged to bend over, her energy output was 30 calories per hour. When she washed them on a table that was a little too high for comfort, it required 25 calories per hour, while only 21 calories were used when the working surface was of the right height.

It doesn't take long to saw off the legs of a table or to put blocks under it which will make it the right height.

Primitive vs. Modern Hay Making

A farmer's work in hay harvest in 1850 resulted in stowing in the barn about one-half ton per day of 10 hours. The efficiency of the farmer's labor was multiplied by five half a century later and he had about 2½ tons to show for his day's work. This measures the difference between primitive and improved methods and machinery.

Timber Helps Poor Lands.

Timber is essentially a poor land crop. Steep slopes, poor soil, rocky land, unusual corners, gullied and wooded tracts—all these afford opportunities for growing timber profitably, say specialists of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture. A careful survey of the average farm will reveal a surprising number of spots of this sort which can be utilized to advantage. If they do not already have trees, planting them with the proper varieties will materially increase the value of the land.

The Jack Bean—A Vegetable Gold Brick

Savage disciples of Voodoo worship in the American Tropics ascribe supernatural powers to the jack bean. These tribesmen plant a row of the seed around their rude gardens in the belief that the plant will punish trespassers. This custom was doubtless brought by Negro slaves from Africa, where the very similar sword or fetich bean is thus worshiped. But the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, falls to support this weird belief concerning the bean. Nor do these scientists find much else to recommend this plant stranger from the West Indies.

The Jack bean, it appears from abundant experiments, is a prolific plant. It is not unusual for the seeds in their 14-inch pods of a jack-bean plant to outweigh its own herbage; and the herbage, if cut green, frequently crops at the rate of 16 to 20 tons per acre. This wonderful productiveness makes the bean a favorite of the get-rich-quick gentry who seek to introduce a new and marvelous commercial plant. This popularity among unscrupulous promoters accounts in part, at least, for the numerous allures under which the jack bean is known. "Pearson bean," "wonder bean," "Wataka bean," "Gottal bean," "South American coffee bean," etc., are only a few of the names in which the jack bean has been rechristened.

It has some value in the South as a green-manure crop, and there is evidence to show that it may be a good silage crop when cut green.

Cattle do not relish the jack-bean hay, nor do they make gains upon the ground seed, which product they must be taught to eat.

The bean is eaten by natives of Mexico, but most experiments describe it as flat and coarse in flavor. The seed contains a large proportion of a material known as urease, and used in medicines, but the demand for this product is extremely limited.

After all, the scientists warn the prospective buyer of "wonder beans" to have no specimen identified, or else confine the first plantings to small areas until the doubtful values of the bean are better established and a better market provided than seems to exist at present.

Depth Of Corn Cultivation

Many comparative experiments of deep and shallow cultivation have been made, and on the whole the results are in favor of shallow cultivation, say specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The occasions when deep cultivation is preferable are few. If excessive rains have packed the soil and kept it water soaked, deep cultivation will help to dry and aerate it. Breaking the roots of the plants must be avoided so far as possible. If roots are broken the plants will rapidly produce other roots, but it will be at the expense of vitality and the food supply. After the plants have reached a height of 2 or 3 feet, the soil even in the middle of the rows should not be cultivated deeper than 4 inches and usually a shallower cultivation will prove better. A loose soil mulch 2 or 3 inches in thickness should be maintained. It retards soil moisture and facilitates the penetration of rainfall.

Start The Home Cannery.

Home canning at its best provides a supply of every fruit and vegetable that has been in season during the summer for use during the winter. Rhubarb, asparagus, and dandelion greens are in season now. Enough of each to serve once a week during the cold months will add variety to the menus next winter.

Fertile eggs will withstand marketing conditions much better than fertile eggs.

Dizziness, vertigo (blind staggers), sallow complexion, flatulence are symptoms of a torpid liver. No one can feel well while the liver is inactive. Herbine is a powerful liver stimulant. A dose or two will cause all bilious symptoms to disappear. Try it. Price 60c. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl... my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me... but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable... I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot..."

I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

POINCARÉ CALLED PUPPET OF 'TIGER'

Much Desired To Resign, Writer In Paris Paper Declines.

Paris, May 8.—A mere figurehead as president of the French republic, impotently raging against the Versailles treaty, threatening to resign unless it were modified but calmly "put in his place" by the unbending Tiger—thus Raymond Poincaré, Deschanel's predecessor as president of France, is pictured today by a writer in the Crie de Paris, who claims to have "inside" knowledge to back up his assertions.

M. Poincaré, the writer avers, considering that the Versailles pact had bungled the world's problems, wrote letters almost daily to Clemenceau, Stephen Pinchon, former Foreign Minister, and Andre Hardeu, "but he was unable to get his views accepted." At one time, the journalist says, Poincaré was on the point of demanding Clemenceau's resignation, but the "Tiger's" immense popularity as the "father of victory" made him fear such a demand would be repudiated by the French parliament and arouse a nation-wide storm of protest.

"Therefore" continues the Crie de Paris article, "the president came to the conclusion that the only thing left to do was for himself to resign. He consulted M. Deschanel, who however, dissuaded him with the argument that Poincaré's resignation at that juncture would only encourage Germany and show a radical weakness among the allies. So Poincaré decided to serve out his term."

"Tanlac Is Certainly a Fine
Medicine For Elderly People," She Says

Among the many Kentucky people who have recently testified to the powers of Tanlac, is Mrs. Nannie Chappell, residing at 3724 Old Third street, Louisville, who in relating her experience said:

"I am now seventy-five years of age, but I doubt if there are many women that old who feel any better than I do since taking Tanlac. Why, during all the years of my life I have never seen or heard of a medicine to equal it, for a few bottles have relieved me of a case of rheumatism, nervousness and indigestion that had troubled me for twenty-three years. Sometimes my lower limbs hurt me so bad I couldn't walk; and at times my arms pained me so I couldn't raise my hands to comb my hair. I had several attacks every year and while they were on me I could neither get up or down without help. Many a time I got so nervous I would shake like a leaf and just dreaded to see aught come. For it was impossible for me to sleep. My appetite left me, too, and everything I ate disagreed with me."

"Finally I got so bad off with this rheumatism that I couldn't stay on my feet any longer. While I was down in bed my son, who is a passenger engineer on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, came to see me and said, 'Mother, you remember how I suffered so long with stomach trouble and could hardly eat at all, and lost weight and thought I would have to quit work. Well, you see me now weighing two hundred and fifteen pounds, and in such a good condition that I can eat pork or anything else I want and my health just perfect. Tanlac did this for me and I'm going to get you a bottle. So he did, and almost as soon as I began taking it I felt better. In a few days I had a good appetite and was able to get out of bed, I have taken three bottles of Tanlac now and am feeling like a different person. Every sign of the rheumatism is gone and I am not only able to sleep soundly every night but I usually take a nap during the day. Tanlac is certainly a fine medicine for old people and I will gladly tell anyone personally just what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean, in Horse Branch by Olcott Drug Co., in Rockport by James Browning, in Cromwell by Wallace & Porter and in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr.—Advertisement.

COSTS $1 FOR FISHING LICENSE IN MISSOURI

Jefferson City, Mo., May 8.—The fishing season is on, but it's going to cost the men folks one buck to angle for the fluky tribe in Missouri this year.

Women and children are exempt from the fee, however, so if you are married and short the "one-spot" friend wife may do the fishing.

Remember, though, without a license a husband may only "bait the hook."

Do Your Best.

Everyone should do all he can to provide for his family and in order to do this he must keep his physical system in the best condition possible. No one can reasonably hope to do much when he is half sick a good share of the time. If you are constipated, bilious or troubled with indigestion get a package of Chamberlain's Tablets and follow the plain printed directions, and you will soon be feeling alright and able to do a day's work.

RULER IN CENTRAL ARABIA MURDERED BY TRIBESMEN

London, May 8.—Ibn Rassid Emir of Hall, one of the principal rulers of Central Arabia, has been assassinated. The killing of the Emir is believed to have been the outcome of a tribal affair and not of a political nature. Numerous members of his family have been assassinated for several generations past.

The Emir was allied with the Turks during the war.

In making lye hominy, or hulled corn, any variety of white or yellow dent or flint corn may be used, preference being usually given to varieties having large or fairly large kernels, as they are easier to hull than the small-kernelled varieties. Only clean, sound ears should be used. New corn is better than old corn for the purpose. In fact, hominy of the finest flavor can be made from new corn that has just ripened sufficiently so it can be shelled from the cob.

Instead of boiling the corn in a lye solution, as has been directed in published recipes, the Department of Agriculture recommends treating the corn in a cold solution made as follows:

Take 5 ounces of lye (also known as sodium hydroxide, or caustic soda) 5 quarts of corn, and 6 quarts of water. Dissolve the lye in the water and stir in the corn. Let stand for about 15 hours. Then wash thoroly to remove the lye and the dissolved portions of the kernels.

The lye can be removed more readily by rubbing the hominy in a cloth bag, or alternating the rubbing and washing. When thoroughly washed, the hull and black tip are off and the kernel has a clean appearance.

As the lye solution is not heated, it does not penetrate the kernel to any extent and is practically all removed in the washing. This hominy, cooked in one or two changes of water, is quite free from the lye taste. If more hominy is made at one time than is wanted for one cooking, the rest can be dried and kept for future use.

To remove the slight discoloration of the kernels caused by the lye treatment, soak the hominy overnight in water to which a few table-spoons of salt have been added. Pour this off, and cook the hominy in one or two changes of water, changing the water as it reaches the boiling point and washing the hominy before putting on fresh water. After this washing, add a scant tablespoon of salt for each quart of hominy, cover with water, and put on to boil. The hominy should be kept covered with water while cooking. Boil for three or four hours, or until it is thoroughly cooked. To avoid crushing the kernels, it should not be stirred while cooking. When properly cooked, each grain is soft and tender and retains its distinct form. The hominy increases in bulk three or four times in cooking.

For a Weak Stomach.

As a general rule all you need to do is to adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation and to keep your bowels regular. When you feel that you have eaten too much and when constipated, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets.

The United States has 51 per cent of the railroads of the world.

Barbed wire cuts ragged wounds, collar and harness galls heal up quickly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is applied. It is both healing and antiseptic. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

Pepto-Mangan Builds Red Blood

The Happy Family Is the One Where Everybody Has Red-Blooded Health.

Children should not be pale and wan. Women should not be tired, weak and blue. Young girls should not be sallow, listless and anemic. Men should not feel run-down and poorly.

Poor health and lack of vitality are often merely the result of impoverished blood.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is for people whose bodies suffer from lack of proper blood nourishment. Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood and increases the number of healthy red blood cells, which are so necessary to carry the proper nourishment, vigor, and strength to every part of the body.

It contains the very properties that are so sorely needed to build up thin, watery blood. Physicians call it the Red Blood Builder.

For your convenience Pepto-Mangan is prepared in two forms, liquid and tablet. Both contain exactly the same medicinal value.

Insist on the genuine Pepto-Mangan. To be sure you are buying the genuine Pepto-Mangan, ask your druggist for "Gude's", and be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package.—Adv't.

What Means Most To You Is What We Try Most To Give

There is only one way to buy an implement economically. Buy it on the basis of its earning power. Buy it for its ability to do good work for you right from the start, and year after year. It is our aim to give full earning power every time we sell a farm implement. That is why we buy from firms that take every care to maintain their reputation for making only good implements. That is why we handle the following lines: John Deere Plow Company, Fairbanks, Morse & Co., De Laval Separator Co., Hercules Gas Engine and Buggy Co., Simmons Hardware Company, Owensboro Wagon Co., Malleable Monarch Range Co. They have, by selling QUALITY, forged ahead and have stood the test of time, while others making a cheaper grade (just as good) have failed and are forgotten. Your repair question is solved when you buy from us for you can always get repairs. Did you ever buy and off brand and later try to get repairs? Use your best judgment and see us before you buy.

NOT REALLY 'NEW'

Modern Comforts Well Known to the Ancients.

Running Water in Houses, for instance, Was a Luxury Enjoyed by Both the Roman and Early Egyptian Civilizations.

Many of the so-called "modern improvements" of civilization, which so largely contribute to the comfort of living, are by no means so recent in origin as we are disposed to imagine.

An eminent archeologist has recently declared, for example, that Nero's palace in Rome had three elevators. It is true that those elevators must have been hoisting machines of very primitive pattern—operated presumably by man power, with the help of rope and counter weight—and it is more than doubtful that they were ever used to carry human freight. Few palaces or other buildings in ancient Rome were more than two stories in height, and passenger "lifts" were for that reason not needed.

We are accustomed to think of running water in houses as a modern luxury. New York city did not have it until 1776, when a reservoir was constructed east of Broadway, into which water was raised by pumping it from wells dug for the purpose. But that was a very primitive arrangement compared with the system of ancient Rome, by which water was brought from great distances in aqueducts that were marvels of engineering and that emptied through lead pipes into thousands of tanks of heavy stone.

Erected at intervals along the streets of Pompeii were pillars of masonry, up which ran lead pipes; and on top of each pillar was a tank, from which water was distributed by pipes to the houses. All dwellings, except those of the very poor, were thus supplied, and some had nearly a score of fountains, controlled by stopcocks that were much like those that are in use today.

At many street corners there were fountains with stone basins, the edges of which even now show depressions worn by the hands of the people who leaned over to drink. Those fountains were fed by the city water, which was brought by an aqueduct from a distant place so elevated that the "head" was very powerful. That kind of engineering was highly developed in those times. When Julius Caesar first visited Alexandria in Egypt he found there so complete an underground water supply system that the city seemed "hollow underneath."

In the year 73 B. C., Julius Caesar organized the fire department of Rome. It had a force of 600 men. At that time a primitive fire engine had already come into use; it was a pair of pumps worked by a team, and the two streams united in a common discharge pipe and passed out through a nozzle that could be turned in any direction. "Siphons"—emergency fire extinguishers—were commonly kept in houses. Frequent mention is made of them in ancient literature, but we do not know what they were like.—Youth's Companion.

Lafe's Tribute.

As we reached a certain smooth road, along which travel daily many munitioned wagons, we met a mule skinner walking. He was going in the direction of a certain military graveyard, where are buried Americans and French and Germans, Senegalese and Moroccans and Tunisians—Christians and Mohammedans. Over the mule skinner's right arm hung a French wreath. With his left hand he was leading a sulen looking mule. As we were about to pass him our engine died. W— got out to crank up and the mule skinner stopped to watch and talk to us. Menntine an M. P. strolled down.

"Where you gain' with that, Lafe?" he asked, nodding at the wreath.

"Well," replied Lafe, with a hitch at the mule, "there was a damn fool I used to sleep with, and he got his two nights ago. He was a hell of a good fellow, and I thought this wreath to put on his cross."—Mande Radford Warren in the Saturday Evening Post.

Aid to Transplanting.

Transplanting flowering and vegetable plants is now greatly facilitated by the use of paper flower pots which are nothing more or less than the familiar paper drinking cups. For use in the farm and garden these cups are perforated and the seedlings are grown in them in the nursery. When it comes time to put the delicate plants out in the open they are transferred bodily, pots and all, and placed in the ground. The transfer is attended by no shock whatever, which is rarely the case when the roots are disturbed during the operation as when removing them from the little pots of clay which are generally used for this purpose. The perforations enable the rootlets to find their way beyond the limits of the pot, and so the paper does not interfere with their growth.

All Wanted a Change.

I was sitting on the porch one day reading and much interested in my book. Of a sudden I became aware of the fact that the little boy downstairs had been drumming and singing at the top of his voice for some time. I listened. He sang, "Turn to the left, boys, turn to the left," over and over again until I wished he would change it and sing something else. Evidently the little boy two doors away wished the same thing, for he called out, "For goodness sake, Danny, turn to the right!"—Exchange.

MADE FINE TUNNEL

How Prisoners Used War Bread Doled Out to Them.

Avenue by Which Captive Allies Had Hoped to Escape Was Really a Perfect Piece of Work—Even Germans Admired It.

There is certainly more tragedy than comedy in the cruel disappointment of unhappy prisoners thwarted in a promising and almost successful effort to escape; nevertheless, the gallant gaiety that has marked so many of the allied fighting men does not fail them wholly even in such circumstances. Lance Corporal Charles W. Baker, who recently recounted his prison experiences in the Metropolitan Magazine, wastes no pathos on himself or on his fellow sufferers when they failed to get safe away through their ingenious tunnel, and can even see a funny side to the affair.

Some of the other prisoners had begun the tunnel and had worked upon it daily for a month before they let him into the secret, which finally became known to several hundred of the captives.

It opened from the last hut at the end of the back row and was headed for the only clump of bushes anywhere near the camp. The soil was so sandy that it was impossible to make a tunnel in the ordinary way; a long time passed before the boys hit on a plan. After our own packages had begun to come and we had white bread to eat, says the corporal, some genius had a happy thought of using the war bread for bricks. The war bread is as tough and as hard as rubber and of about the size and shape of a small stone block that you use for paving streets. We kept the bread buried until night. Then we piled it up in a kind of grate, and when the sentries were out of sight we rushed it over to the tunnel. It was the most beautiful tunnel you ever saw. The sides were built up like brick walls, and the roof was a perfect arch. The sand that we took out was the same color as the sand of the camp, and as the ground was almost always wet you couldn't tell the difference. We would take it out in small handfuls and scatter it all over the place, and with several thousand men walking round there was no way of detecting it.

Of course it was slow work making the tunnel, for we had to accumulate war bread, and so to amuse ourselves we fixed it all up. We stuck pictures from newspapers on the wall, and we even ran a wire down from the cook house and lighted it all up with electricity. We took some of the lamps, and when the guard wanted to know where they were we said they had got broken.

A hundred and twenty yards had been built out of the hundred and fifty that the tunnel had to go when a miserable Frenchman, to curry favor with his captors, betrayed the secret. The other French prisoners concerned were wild with rage and shame; and when the whole camp was lined up for investigation and punishment the French non-commissioned officers stepped forward and begged "for the honor of the French army" to be allowed to take not only their own share of punishment but that of all the others.

But of course, says Corporal Baker, the British wouldn't have that, and the non-commissioned British officers gave themselves up. It was a regular howling and scurrying, "You-first-my-dear-Alphonse" sort of proceeding. A few of the men were given five months in solitary, but most of them got off pretty easy, because the German officers were so much amused. They thought they had taken away every conceivable thing that could be used for tunnel building, but they never thought of the war bread. German officers came from miles round to see the tunnel. They wouldn't let us destroy it but kept it as a curiosity. Even the general of a division near by came in to see it. He said it was the finest piece of sapping he had ever seen.—Youth's Companion.

Picardy in History.

Picardy was one of the old feudal provinces of France, and its territory is now comprised in the departments of Somme, Oise, Pas-de-Calais and Aisne. The name is still unofficially applied to that part of France which borders on the English channel and contains the cities of Amiens, Beauvais, Calais, Boulogne, Arras, Soissons and Laon. The fighting in the present war has been largely in Picardy, which was a portion of that part of ancient Gaul inhabited by the Belgians, who were considered by the Romans the bravest of the Gauls. The city of Amiens is noted for its cathedral, one of the most magnificent in Europe, founded in 1220. It is 470 feet in length, with a transept 213 feet across.

Start Airplanes in Sheds.

Owing to peculiar climatic and natural conditions which prevail, the Japanese have adopted peculiar methods in aviation training. With great ingenuity oriental aviators have built long, low airplane sheds, and from one of these he rushes out and mounts the air. He has learned from bitter experience that to start the machine in the open is to be enveloped in clouds of dust, which effectively clog and stop all working parts. So he gains momentum in his shed, and with the first thunder of the engine in the open he has started to climb.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

I missed Slim from Louisville for a day or two between the State Convention and the races. Guess he was paying a brief visit to the home-folks at Hartford.

Met Jim Lyons Derby day and asked him where he was going. Jim said he wasn't going; that he had been where he was and was hurrying back away down South in Dixie.

I heard Fluke was in Louisville for the Derby, and looked everywhere for him but he wasn't there. In the old days I would have gone straight to Sullivan & Brock's, but they are not selling anything but soft drinks and sandwiches now.

I felt sorry for myself Saturday afternoon. An avalanche of humanity was sweeping out Fourth street for the Derby while I turned in Walnut to Kelth's for a show. Yes, I had two car fares and a season racing ticket in my pocket, but not a drop of sporting blood in my veins.

When we country folks come to the city we have to learn what we know, all over again. I thought a wrestle meant to throw somebody down until I saw the big match at the armory Friday night, and discovered that a wrestle meant only to touch the other fellow's shoulder to the mat.

"Louisville isn't worth coming to any more, remarked an Owensboro friend to me Sunday. "Near beer was disappointment enough," he went on, "but I just came from the Jefferson, formerly the Buckingham, where I went to see the Miracle Minstrels, and every mother's son of the troupe of nineteen was a male."

Were you ever nabbed by a cop? If you have not had the experience you have missed a thrill. In front of the Watterson hotel Saturday night, a big policeman laid his hand on my shoulder and said "Hold a minute." He looked serious, like he meant business, and I held on a minute. He was so darned slow about saying any thing further that I got nervous. But he finally relieved my apprehension by remarking that it had been a long time since we were school boys together, and then I recognized Tom Duff, Uncle Bob's boy, but he didn't look natural in uniform Tom makes a fine looking officer.

Misses Nell and Carrie Mae Wigginton, who have been spending the past two weeks with relatives, near Rumsey, returned to their homes Sunday. They were accompanied home by the former's sister and brother, Miss Jeanette and Mr. Scoba Wigginton.

No Place for "Slacker."

Late-comers, drifters-in who are given to offering apologies for "half-done" work, and all other representatives of the make-believe element are so many discordant notes wherever one finds them, and if such people define themselves with the idea that their code of thinking and doing will make life's ways any easier, a gigantic disappointment is in store for them.

The world is large and offers opportunities to the man or woman who proves his or her worth, but for the slacker it has absolutely no use, nor for the individual who, unthinkingly, perhaps, is prone to play a slacker's part.

Complete Rout.

"Our forces have been routed, your excellency, and are retreating in great disorder."

"Have you lost control over them?"

"Absolutely, all highest. We can't even get them to stop long enough to poison the wells as they beat it for home."

Little Men and Big Jobs.

Among the chiefest enemies of mankind is the individual who seizes a job for which he is too little. If he is a tuffor, his costs make other human beings fear the light of day. If he builds buildings they tumble down and mangle those who occupy them. If he is an oculist he puts out his patients' eyes, or if a surgeon he is prone to cut off the wrong leg. In all of life's situations the little man in the big job causes misery, but most of all he incurs disaster when he meddles with the affairs of nations.—Detroit Free Press.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Seeing the price without the merchandise is only an imaginary operation. Price, unless backed up with good merchandise is a rank deception. We are anxious to show the price and the merchandise in comparison and leave the buying to you. May we have you in for a look?
